

Jump into the freedom

We live in the city.
We live in the country.
There are pros and cons
in both of them.
What counts
is our will

Living in the city is good but you can loose your head.
There is great silence
in the country
and you do not want to move.

Lots of noise is in the city.
I'd quickly like to escape
back in the arms of nature and jump into the freedom
